"Mr. J. D. Weeks was the next speaker. He had taken great interest in the subject of nutural gas, and had devoted much time and study to it. Practical experiments had already demonstrated that by its use a much better article of iron could be made than with any other fuel. He had seen an iron produced with it from common coke stock which fully equalled he best Eoglish button iron, and believed that gas would ere a great while come into use in all the varied processors of iron man. and gas would ere a great while come into use in all the varied processes of iron manuacture. Mr. Weeks thought he saw in the discovery of this almost limitless supply of cheap fuel the solution of the great question at issue between capital and idor. Our iron men, he said, do not want togrind their employes down to the level of the pauper labor of foreign mills and farraces. They desire to have intelligent men in front of their puddling furnaces, at the rolls and in all positions. To secure the services of this chass, good wages must be paid; and to enable them to do this they must economize in the matter of fast. this they must economize in the matter of feel. Dr. Seeley reported a case of cataract, stating that it was of interest from the fact that the patient was a member of the profession, having graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in medicine probably before the oldest member of the Academy was born. The Doctor was born in 1785, and served during the war of 1812 as surgeon to a Virginia regiment. He was one of the jury that in 1807 acquitted Aaron Burr of treason against the United States. The patient had undergone an operation for extraction of the cataract in the right eye, in the spring, the result of which was the total loss of the eye.

The patient presented himself to Dr. Seeley some three weeks ago and the so-called Grasfe extraction was made. There was a most marked areus senilis. The operation succeeded perfectly—there being no prolapse of the virreous nor trace

He then gave information that Coss and Lawless and two others who are in for burglary,—from Martin's Ferry—were in possession of saws for the purpose of cutting the iron bars and making their escape. The Sheriff at once made search and found three fine burglar saws. One bar of iron had been sawn alsaws. One bar of iron had been sawn al-most off, and it was the intention of the most off, and it was the intention of the prisoners to make the attempt to escape to-night, which, no doubt, they would have succeeded in doing had not the timely information been furnished by the boy. The boy had been beaten by the gang, because he would not awear to keep allent. The saws were furnished by Mrs. Coss who, no doubt will get an opportunity to stay inside the jail with her friends.

ATCHISON, November 5.—The Dails Champion has returns from 80 of the 103 representative districts of Kansas, which show the election of 58 regular Republi-cans, 8 Independent Republicans, 11 Demcans, 8 Independent Republicans, 11 Democrats, and 12 elected on the people's and reform tickets. The opposition had much larger numbers last year than this year, and the election has resulted in a much more decided Republican victory than them. The only Senatorial vacancy is filled by the election of a Republican, and of the three District Judges to elect the Republicans have elected two. In a large number of the counties straight Democratic tickets were run for the first time in many years and in every instance Democratic tickets were run for the first time in many years and in every instance were defeated and polled a much smaller vote than when the opposition was organized under another name. The proportion of Democrats in the reform opposition and local ticket are very small and the result shows that a leas number of such tickets have been elected this year than since the last Presidential contest. In all parts of the State wherever a straight party issue was presented the vote shows larger Republican majorities than were ever before given in the contest for the local offices. Of the four-teen districts yet to hear from twelve will teen districts yet to hear from twelve will certainly elect Republicans, and the Leg-islature will, therefore, be more than three-fourths Republicans.

The indictment contains four counts, first, that of concealing snuggling goods:

of membership on the ground of continued absence from the services of the church. Deacon West was not present, but Mrs. Moulton was, accompanied by counsel, Roger A. Pryor, who read a protest signed by Mrs. Moulton, and which closed as follows:

My absence is an enforced one, and is caused by the crime of adultery committed by Henry Ward Beecher, pastor of this church, with one of his parishioners, which I know to be a fact through Mr. Beecher's confession to me, through the confession of Mrs. Tilton, and through conclusive evidence of the crime from other sources. I appear before this church in loyal obedience to the summons which I have received, and I hereby declare my disposition and desire to discharge all the duties devolving on me as a member that are consistent with my knowledge of the adultery of the pastor and his false swearing in regard to it. The New York and Brooklyn Association of Congregational Ministers have taken action, it is alleged, which will certainly reviye the Beecher seandal. A committee of its members has been appointed and instructed to report, after a careful examination of the charges, whether the association ought to retain Mr. Beecher in membership. It was said last evening that Mr. Beecher would withdraw from the association rather than submit to an investigation.

The Coke Trade. PITTSULFAIL, November 5.—Trade is reported as being dull, which may be attribued largely to the depression in the pig ron trade, and as the two interests are losely identified, no material or permanent improvement can be expected in the former until there has been a revival in the atter. The fact is trade in coke has held mer until there has been a revival in the latter. The fact is trade in coke has held out better than was expected, and there is reason to believe that as acon as there is a revival in the pig iron trade and the formaces now idle started up, that the consumption of the latter will be larger than ever it was before, as it has been developed that in addition to making a better quality of pig it costs but little if any more than coal. At current rates there is but little if any more than coal. At current rates there is but little in any margin for profit, and it is thought prices cannot possibly go any lower, we continue to quote at $2,022.75 per ton delivered on cars here in Pittsburgh. A very fair percentage of the ovens are still in blast, but as yet there has been no accumulation of stock of any consequence.
